The men behind our scrimmage are champions every one,
 Acknowledged by the public and the press,
 Such men as Brooke and Dyson are marvels all will own
 Such scorers as no other clubs possess;
 With Richmond in the centre then we never fear defeat,
 And if by accident they miss the ball,
 There's Eagland just behind them who will quickly clear his lines,
 For Will is just as safe as any wall.

Chorus.

Our gallant captain Archer, and also smiling Kaye,
 At half-back always play a dashing game;
 As leader of our forwards Tom Eagland is well known,
 And those who work the scrimmage I will name,
 There's Schofield and Frank Walker, Thewlis, Shaw and Oscar France,
 Paul Jackson, Mitchell, Lorriman, all told;
 A champion set of forwards and we hope they long will play,
 'Neath the colours of the Claret and the Gold.

Chorus.

ENCORE VERSE.

Hurrah! for J. P. Crosland, a gentleman we know,
 Who has our football interest at heart;
 Hurrah! for our committee, amongst those gentlemen,
 Will Hirst and Harrop take an active part;
 Our umpire Lupton Littlewood deserves a word of praise,
 His efforts for our team ne'er seem to tire;
 And also one more character, the trainer of our team,
 Well known when on the field as Doctor Squire.

Chorus.

et,

H. ARCHER (Capt.)

1890.

HARRY ARCHER commenced his football career 15 years in Bradford, with a junior club designated "Zingari." He next attached himself to the Old Manningham Club (now defunct) and afterwards figured in the ranks of the Bradford F. C., generally at full-back or as wing three-quarters, the same season that Park Avenue was opened. On one occasion he operated at half-back, and played brilliantly. Rather than submit to such chopping and changing, he joined the present Manningham Club, and became so popular during the two succeeding seasons, that he was appointed captain (1884-5), and so well did he pilot his team that it was only defeated by Batley in the final by eight minors to two. The following season he assisted Buttershaw. He next associated himself with the Huddersfield Club, and has done much towards placing it in the proud position which it now occupies as "Champion Club of the Champion County."
